WHILE I was preparing the Descriptive Catalogue of the Mss. of the B. B. R. A. S., Bombay, I found that the then available information about the extent and nature of Jain Literature was rather meagre. So, I decided to compile a Catalogue Catalogorum on the lines of Aufrecht's great work. I actually began my work in the month of December, 1923 and succeeded in acquiring reliable lists of Mss. preserved in the various Jain Bhandars throughout India. The lists of the Śvetāmbara Bhandars were obtained by me through many of my friends, prominently among whom must be mentioned the late Mr. K. P. Modi, Advocate of Ahmedabad, Shri Indravijaya Suri Maharaj of Shivpuri, Gwalior, Mr. M. D. Desai, Advocate of Bombay, Dr. T. L. Shah, of Baroda, and Mr. K. H. Javeri, Cloth Merchant of Bombay. On the other hand, I got the lists of the Digambara Bhandars from the Ailak Pannabai Digambara Jain Sarasvati Bhuvan at Bhuleshvar, Bombay : but very often Pandit Nathuram Premi, the Jain Bookseller and Publisher of Hirabag, Bombay, helped me materially in securing lists and also in various other ways. I take this opportunity of expressing my deep gratitude to all these gentlemen and institutions.

I was unable to visit and personally inspect the Jain Bhandars in Gujrat and Central India in spite of the very noble offer of help made to me by the Jain Śvetāmbara conference of Bombay, for various reasons which include those of health and circumstances. As regards the Digambara Bhandars, a visit to these by a Non-Jain is still out of question. It is, therefore, not impossible that a number of statements made in this Kośa may be found inaccurate. I do not disown responsibility in all such cases and in all humility apologize to the reader for the inconvenience and mental uneasiness which may be caused to him ; for, I am fully conscious that my own ignorance and negligence might have been as much responsible for this state of affairs as the inaccurate statements existing in the lists themselves.

Unlike Aufrecht, I am listing the works and the authors separately. Thus in this First Volume of the Jinaratnakōśa, a list of Jain works alone will be found ; while, I propose to give the list of the authors in the Second Volume. I have purposely restricted myself to Jain works written in the Sanskrit and the Prakrit languages including the Apabhraṃśa, though I have occasionally mentioned some old Gujrati commentaries and works.

Jain Literature is written in at least three different provincial languages, namely, Gujrati, Hindi, and Kannaḍa. Of these, the works composed by the Jain poets in Gujrati are listed, described, and illustrated admirably by Mr. M. D. Desai, Advocate, Bombay in the two volumes of his 'Jaina Gujara Kavio', 1925, and 1931. A similar attempt is made by R. Narasimhācārya in his 'Karṇāṭakakavīcarite', Vols. I to III, Bangalore, 1924 etc. This latter work is of course conceived on a different plan ; in it greater importance is attached to the poets than to their works, so that the manuscripts of the works are rarely mentioned, if at all. In the case of Jain literature written in Hindi, I am not aware of any such sustained attempt to give a full account of either the authors or their works. It is indeed desirable that lists of the works and authors of Jain literature written in the three languages mentioned above should be prepared as early as possible to complete the picture attempted in and started by the Jinaratnakosā; but I find that I am unable to do this at present at least, because I know nothing at all of the Kannada language.

Lastly, I think, I shall be failing in my duty if I do not mention the chief source of my inspiration in the preparation of this Jinaratnakosā. My Guru, the late Professor H. M. Bhadkamkar of Wilson College, had repeatedly expressed a desire to prepare some work resembling the 'Vedic Index' of Macdonell and Keith (Guru and Śiṣya), in collaboration with me, his humble pupil, and this was when I was yet to pass my first degree examination. Owing to my misfortune, however, my Guru passed away only six months after I got my B. A. degree and left me all alone to carry out his desire. Ever since that time (May, 1915), I have tried to be a worthy pupil of his, both in my work at the college and in the field of research, and have steadily kept in view the fulfilment of his desire mentioned above. The present work is the first fruit of my attempts, awkward and imperfect though it is, and I humbly offer it to the Spirit of my Guru!

- ✓(81) Mysore I. A Catalogue of Mss. in the Govt. Oriental Library of Mysore, prepared by Mr. Mahadev Shastri and published at Mysore in 1894. Quoted by pages.
- (82) Mysore II. Vol. I of the Catalogue of Mss. in the Govt. Ori. Library, Mysore, 1900. Quoted by pages.
- (83) Mysore III. Vol. II of the same, quoted by pages. Compiler's name is not mentioned in any one of these two volumes.
- (84) Padma. A list of Mss. in the private Bhandar belonging to Mr. Padmaraj Jain of Mysore, obtained through the Bombay Sarasvati Bhavana mentioned under No (33). It is quoted by the Bundles.
- (85) PAP. This and the next eight lists are the lists of the famous Patan Bhandars. They are on the whole, carefully prepared and the information given in them is usually accurate. ✓ I got them all through the Jain Svetāmbara Conference, Bombay. PAP. is the list of the Bhandar called the Sangha Bhandar at Pofalia Wada, Vakhatji Sheri, at Patan. This contains 79 Dabhdas, and is quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (86) PAPL. This is the list of the Limdi Pada branch of the above mentioned Sangha Bhandar. It has only 9 Dabhdas and is quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (87) PAPM. A list of the Mss. in the New Sangha Bhandar in the Vakhatji Sheri, Pofalia Wada, Patan. These are all Palm leaf Manuscripts. Quoted by Bundles and Pothis.
- (88) PAPR. A List of the Paper Mss. in the same New Sangha Bhandar. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis similarly.
- (89) PAPS. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar at the Agali Sheri, Pofalia Wada, Patan. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (90) PAS. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of Lodhi Posala Sanghavi Pada, Patan. This is a very valuable collection of Palm-leaf Manuscripts about 500 in number. Most of them are worn out. Quoted by serial numbers. The Mss. from this collection are also described at Patan Catalogue (Gaek. O. S. No. 76), pp. 1-258.
- ✓(91) Patan Cat. A Descriptive Catalogue of Mss. in the Jain Bhandar at Patan, Vol. I (Palm leaf Mss.), published by the Oriental Institute, Baroda, 1937.
- (92) PAZA. A list of old and valuable Mss. though on paper, in Sha Chunilal Mulji's Bhandar, Zaveri Wada, Patan. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (93) PAZB. A list of Mss. in the Vadi Pārśvanātha Pustaka Bhandar, at Zaveri Wada, Patan. Quoted by Bundles and Pothis.
- (94) Pet. I and Pet. I. A. These are the Mss. listed and described in the First Report of Dr. Peterson. The collection is preserved at the Bhandarkar Institute and is known as the Collection A of 1882-83. Quoted by serial numbers. Pet. I. A. refers to the Appendix in the Report, which contains quotations from important Jain works. The allusions are to the pages of this Appendix.
- (95) Pet. II. A Second Report by Dr. Peterson, containing a list of Mss. acquired for the Bombay Govt. and a long introduction and extracts from important Mss. The collection, like other Government collections is preserved at Bhandarkar Institute, and is known as the Collection A of 1883-84. Quoted by serial numbers.

- (96) Pet. III. and Pet. III. A. A Third Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1884-85. Quoted by serial numbers of the Mss. Pet. III. A. refers to the important Appendix of this Report, containing quotations from Manuscripts in the Śāntinātha Temple at Cambay, in continuation from the Appendix of the First Report. The Appendix also contains quotations from Jain works existing at other Jain Bhandars. The references to it are by pages.
- (97) Pet. IV. and Pet. IV. A. A Fourth Report by Dr. Peterson. This collection is known as the Collection of 1886-1892. Quoted by serial numbers. This and the next two Reports contain not only an introduction and extracts from Mss., but also a full and very useful index of the Jain authors. References to the Appendix are by pages.
- (98) Pet. V. and Pet. V. A. A Fifth Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1892-1895. Quoted by the serial numbers. Pet. V. A. refers to the three Appendices, containing extracts from Mss. in the Patan Bhandars, and Mss. in the collection itself. The allusion is to the pages.
- (99) Pet. VI. and Pet. VI. A. A Sixth Report by Dr. Peterson. The collection is known as the Collection of 1895-1898. Quoted by the serial numbers. Pet. VI. A. refers to the Appendix containing extracts from the Mss. in the collection itself. The allusion is to the pages.
- (100) PR. A Register of a few Prāsastis of the Mss. in the possession of Seth Manekchand of Bombay. Supplied to me by Pandit Nathuram Premi, Jain author and Book-seller of Hirabag, Bomby. The figures refer to the Serial numbers given in this unpublished Register.
- (101) PRA. These are the Prāsastis copied and collected from the different Jain Mss. by various Jain scholars, prominent among them being Sri Indravijayasūri of Gwalior, Shivpuri, and Dr. Tribhuvandas Shah of Bombay (now settled at Baroda). I have prepared my own notes from these and given them consecutive numbers for the sake of easy reference.

I give below the numbers and after them within brackets, the name of the Bhandar, from the Mss. in which the Prāsastis were copied. Thus, PRA. 1 refers to my note prepared from the Prāsasti copied out from a Ms. in the Kāntivijayaji's Bhandar at Chani and so on. It is intended that it should be possible for the reader to verify my statement by a reference to the original Ms. from which the Prāsasti was copied:—

- (102) Punjab. A Catalogue of Mss. in the Punjab Jaina Bhandars, Part I, Lahore, 1939. (Quoted by serial numbers.
- (103) Rice. A Catalogue of Sanskrit Mss. in Mysore and Koorg, compiled by Rice, and published at Bangalore, 1884. (Quoted by pages.
- (104) SA. A list of the Mss. in the Jainānanda Bhandar at Gopipura, Surat. Obtained through the late Mr. Mody. Quoted by serial numbers.
- (105) Samb. A List of 483 Mss. written on paper, the oldest being dated Samvat 1246, preserved in the temple of Sambhavnatha, which forms part of the great Parshvanatha temple, Jesalmir. Prepared by the late Mr. C. D. Dalal. Obtained through the late Mr. K. P. Mody of Ahmedabad.
- (106) SB. A printed list of the Mss. in the Mohanlal Bhandar at Surat. The Mss. are kept in two cupboards and the reference is to the Cupboards and the Bundles.
- (107) SG. and SGR. A list of the Mss. kept at the Pannalal Jain Sarasvati Bhavan, Bhuleshvara, Bombay. The figures refer to the general numbers which are given to them at the library. The authorities of this Bhavan have collected lists of Mss. in the various Digambar Bhandars throughout India. I was allowed to make use of these and I gratefully acknowledge their help. So far, five Reports with useful extracts from Mss. are published on behalf of the Bhavan and SGR. refers to these Reports by pages. Also see No. (33).

- (108) SRA. A list of the Mss. in the private Bhandar of Bhattarakaji, at Sravan Belgula. Quoted by the Bundles.
- (109) SRB. A list of the Mss. in the private Bhandar of Daurbeli Jinadas of Sravan Belgula. Quoted by the Bundles.
- (110) Strass. (a). A list of the Mss. in the library at Strassburg, prepared by E. Leumann and published in the Vienna Oriental Journal, vol. XI. 1897, p. 279 ff. Quoted by pages. The Mss. are of Digambara works.
- ✓(111) Strass. (b). A similar List of the Śvetāmbara Mss., published in Übersicht über die Avaśyaka Literatur, Hamburg, 1934, p. III. Quoted by serial numbers given there.
- (112) Surat. An alphabetical catalogue prepared by Mr. Kesarchand Hirachand Jhaveri, (cloth merchant, Mangaldas Market, Bombay), of all Mss. in the 11 different Bhandars at Surat. Unfortunately the list is rather vague and mentions after the name of the work, only the number of the Bhandar at Surat. The Mss. indeed can be easily traced, and besides, Mr. Jhaveri is an enthusiastic Jain citizen of Bombay, who readily assists scholars interested in Jainism. He has given the following numbers to the different Bhandars, and my references are to these:—1 Sri Jainananda Pustakakaya, Gopipura; 2 Sri Jinadattasuri Jnanabhandara, Gopipura; 3 Sri Mohanlal Jain Jnanabhandara, Gopipura; 4 Seth Nemachand Melapchand Jain Upasraya Library, Gopipura; 5 Hukam Maniji Jain Jnanabhandar, Gopipura; 6 Devchand Lalibhai Pustakodhhar Fund Library; 7 Mandirsvami Temple Library, Bada Chanta, Surat; 8 Jain Upasraya Library, Bada Chanta; 9 Cintamani Parsvanatha Temple Library, Sahapur, Surat; 10 Dharmanatha Temple Library of the Devasura Gaccha, Gopipura; 11 Adinatha Temple Library, Gopipura.
- (113) Tapa. A List of the Mss. in the Tapa Gaccha Bhandar at Jesalmir, obtained through the Śvetāmbara Conference of Bombay. Quoted by the Bundles.
- (114) Tera. A List of the Mss. in the Tera Panthi Bada Bhandar at Jaipur, obtained through the Sarasvati Jaina Bhavana of Bombay mentioned under No. (33). Quoted by the Bundles.
- (115) VA. A List of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Falsha's Pole, Ahmedabad and containing 18 Dabhdas having about 555 Mss. The references are to the Dabhdas and the Pothis. This and the next three lists were obtained through the late Mr. K. P. Mody.
- (116) VB. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Haja Patel's Pole, Ahmedabad. It consists of 42 Dabhdas and contains about 1426 Manuscripts. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (117) VC. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at Ahmedabad. It is in the possession of Uddyotavimalagani and contains about 360 Mss. kept in 15 Dabhdas. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- (118) VD. A list of the Mss. in the Bhandar of the Vimala Gaccha Upasraya, situated at the Haji Patel's Pole, Ahmedabad. This too is in the possession of Uddyotavimalagani and contains about 347 Manuscripts kept in 15 Dabhdas. Quoted by Dabhdas and Pothis.
- ✓(119) Vel. A Descriptive Catalogue of the Mss. in the BBRAS., Town Hall, Bombay, prepared by H. D. Velaukar. It is in four volumes, published in 1925, 1928, and 1930. The references are to the serial numbers of the Mss. given to them in this Catalogue.
- (120) Viś. A list of Mss. in the Viśrama Bāga Collection, now kept at the Bhandarkar Institute. Quoted by the serial numbers.
- (121) Weber. A descriptive Catalogue of the Berlin Mss. prepared by A. Weber. It is published in two volumes and the references are to the serial numbers of the Mss. given in the Catalogue.

B. Texts-Publishing Series

The following Series which have published many Jain works are referred to generally in the abbreviated form as given within the brackets :—

✓अन्ययोगव्यवच्छेदवृत्तिशिक्षा of Hemacandra. This is the second part of a hymn in praise of Jina. The first part is called Ayogavyavacchedadvātrīṁśikā and contains an easy exposition of the doctrines of Jainism. The second part i. e. the present one, contains a refutation of the doctrines of the Non-Jain systems. The work with its commentary, the Syādvādamāñjarī, is edited in B. S. Series by Prof.

A. B. Dhruva, Bombay, 1933. Both are also published by Motilal Ladhaji, Poona, Vir Sam. 2452 and by Bhairavdas Jethmal, Bikaner, Vir Sam. 2453 and in the Chowkhamba SK. Series, A. D. 1900. The Syādvādamāñjarī is even published with Hindi Translation in RJS. Series, Bombay, 1910 A. D. (2nd ed. 1935 A.D.) and with Gujarati Translation by Hiralal Hamsaraja, Jammagar 1930 A. D. Each part of the hymn contains 32 stanzas as the name shows.

✓ आचारसूत्र is the first Āṅga of the Jain canon.

It consists of two parts (Śrutaskandhas), the first of which is decidedly earlier than the second and treats of 'the proper conduct' (ācāra) of a Jain monk. The four chapters of the second part are called cūlas, i. e., appendices. The first Śrutaskandha is edited by W. Schubring, at Leipzig, 1910, and also for the Jain Sahitya Samisodhaka Samiti, at Poona, 1924. The whole text along with the commentaries of Śīlāṅka, Jinaharṣa and Pārśvacandra and Bhadrabāhu's Nirvyūkti, is published by Ray Dhanpatisinha Bahadur, Calcutta, Sam. 1936. The Āgamodaya Samiti, Surat, has also recently (Nos. 5 and 6 of the Series), published it with the Nirvyūkti and Śīlāṅka's commentary in Sam. 1972-73. It is translated into English by H. Jacobi, in the S. B. E. Series, Vol. 22. The first Śrutaskandha is translated into German by W. Schubring in 'Worte Mahaviras', Leipzig. 1926. Agra. (4) Tikā by Medhavin. Bengal. No. 1521 ; this is probably a ms. of Vasumandin's commentary. Medhavin or Miha, pupil of Jinacandra had composed a Prasasti in Sam. 1516 for a ms. of Vasumandin's com., which was caused to be written by Padmasiṃha and presented to Narasiṃha in that year. Cf. Pet. II. A. pp 136-141. The Bengal ms. is obviously very closely related to this Ms. This Prasasti is also published along with the Sarvarthasiddhi of Vasu-mandin in the MDG. edition (Nos. 19 and 23) as it was found in both the mss. used for it.

उपासकवशाख is the seventh Anga of the Jain Canon. It is in 10 chapters as the name signifies and contains the lives of ten Jain laymen. It is edited and translated into English in the Bibliotheca Indica Series by Hoernle, Calcutta, 1885-88 ; It is also edited with Abhayadeva's commentary for Ray Bahadur Dhanapatisiriha, Calcutta, 1876 and in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 28, Bombay, 1920. For a metrical version of this Sūtra, see Vardhamānadeśanā (III). The text of the Sūtra with introduction etc., is recently edited by Dr. P. L. Vaidya, Poona, 1930. Its Gujarati Translation by D. B. Kalelkar with an introduction is published in the Punjabhai Jain Granthamālā, No. 4, Ahmedabad, 1931.

कल्पसूत्र also called Paryuṣaṇakalpa, ascribed to Bhadrabāhu. It consists of three books called Jinacaritra, Sthavirāvali and Sāmācāri, and itself forms the VIIIth section of the Daśāśrutaskandhasūtra. It is edited with a learned introduction by H. Jacobi, Leipzig, 1879, and is also translated into English by him in the S. B. E. Series, Vol. 22. It is also published with the commentaries of Dharmasāgara (in Sam. 1978) and Vinayavijaya and Lakṣmivallabha (in Sam. 1975) by the JAS., Bhavnagar, and with Vinayavijaya's commentary in the DLP. Fund Series, Bombay, 1911, 1923.

कविकाव्यगर्मचक्र in 116 stanzas by Samantabhadra. CP. p. 633 ; see Siddhapriyastotra. It is also called Jivaśataka and Smṛtividya.

✓ कविदर्पण A work in Prakṛta on Prakṛta metres in five chapters. It is alluded to in Jinaprabhā's commentary on Ajitasāntistava (in Sam. 1365). The author quotes a stanza from Hemacandra's Chandonsāsana, and mentions Kumārāpaka in the illustrations of Ghattā and Kaṇva. He also quotes Prakṛta verses from Jinashūhasūri, Śūraprabhasūri and Tilakasūri. I have edited the work along with its Vṛtti from the single manuscript, namely, Kiel. II. No. 15, in the Annals, BORI, 1935. The author's name is not known.

(1) Vṛtti. Anon. Kiel. II. No. 15. In this commentary three writers on Sanskrit metres i. e. Śūra, Piṅgala and Trilocanadāsa and two writers on Prakṛta meters i. e. Svayambhū and Manoratha, as also the Chandahkandah, a work on Prakṛta metre, are mentioned and quoted. The commentary also quotes a verse from Pādalīptasūri.

कालिकाचार्यकथा the story of Kālaka or Kālīka Ācārya, who transferred the date of the Paryuṣaṇā festival from the fifth to the fourth of the first half of the month of Bhādrapada. It is usually found at the end of the manuscripts of the Kalpasūtra.
But independent copies of it also are not wanting. It exists in many recensions, some of which are in Sanskrit and others in Prakṛta. Almost all these recensions have been carefully examined ✓ and analysed by Prof. N. W. Brown in his Story of Kālaka, Washington, 1935.

(I) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अस्थि इहेव जम्बू) This version is in mixed prose and verse. It is mostly in Prakṛta, with a few stanzas in Sanskrit and Apabhraṁśa. This is styled as the 'Long Anonymous Version' by Brown and is edited with English translation from six mss., in the Story of Kālaka, at pp. 36-70. Brown considers this as the oldest version. JA. 107 (2) ; Pet. I.
A. pp. 18 ; 51 ; 69 ; III. A. p. 26 ; Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, Nos. 4 (2 ; palm ms.
dated Sani. 1336) ; 7 (2 ; palm ms.) ; 47 (2 ; palm ms. dated Sani. 1344). All these are also the mss., of the Kalpasūtra.

(II) कालिकाचार्यकथा (जो कुण्ड ससत्तिय) This version contains about 153 Prakṛta stanzas.
Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 6 (2). This also is a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra ;
cf. Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 26 ; also cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 389. Perhaps PAP.
11 (28) is a ms. of this version (ms.
dated Sani. 1490).

(III) कालिकाचार्यकथा (उत्तुङ्गभट्टाल) This version is in about 108 Prakṛta stanzas. Saṅgha

Bhandar, Patan, 58 (2; a palm-leaf ms.); cf. Brown, p. 27.

(IV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (देविकविवनमियं) This version contains 85 Prākṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 2 (2; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); cf. Brown, p. 28, and Patan Cat. I. p. 388. At Patan Cat. I. p. 261 (quo.), this version is ascribed to Vinayacandra, pupil of Raviprabha, and contains only 78 Prākṛta verses. This author had assisted Udayasinha in his commentary on Dharmavidhi in Sain. 1286; cf. Pet. V. A. p. 115.

(V) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अणुसरि आगमवयणं) This version is in about 132 Prākṛta stanzas. Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 82(1; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); PAS. 221 (This also is a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); Brown, p. 28. and Patan Cat. I. pp 147 (quotation); 372; 406; (ms. dated Sainivat 1377).

(VI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पडिसिद्धिं कुणतो) this version is almost wholly identical with No. (V). JA. 60 (4; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); PRA. No. 1294; cf. Brown, p. 29.

(VII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (उत्पत्तिविगम) The version consists of about 88 Sanskrit stanzas, composed by Vinayacandra, pupil of Ratnasinhaśūri and author of Kalpasūtra-tīkā (No. 7 in Sain. 1325). Ahmedabad, Lohar Pol Bhandar, 91 (3); PAZB. 21 (33); Saṅgha Bhandar, Patan, 5 (2; a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra); cf. Brown, p. 29, and Patan Cat. I. p. 377 (ms. dated Sain 1364).

(VIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पञ्चम्यां विदितं पर्व) This version contains 52 Sanskrit Ślokas, which were composed by Maheśvarāsūri of the Pallivāla Gaccha in Sain. 1365, as an appendix to a ms. of the Kalpasūtra written at his advice, in the same year.

JA. 60 (3) = Pet. I. A. p. 29 = PRA. No. 1296. Compare Brown, p. 30.

(IX) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीसीमन्धरतीर्थेश) This is the version of the Prabhāvakacaritra. It contains 156 Sanskrit stanzas and is printed in the N. S. P. Edition of the Prabhāvakacaritra, at pp. 36-46. Compare Brown, p. 30.

(X) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीवर्धमानपदपथ) This version consists of 67 Sanskrit stanzas. See Brown, p. 31 (Bhavnagar ms. on paper).

(XI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (पूर्वैर्भाद्रपञ्चम्याः) This version contains 74 Sanskrit stanzas, composed in Sain. 1325 by a layman called Pradyumna at the request of Hariprabhaśūri; cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 151 for quotations etc. PAS. No. 234 (a palm-leaf ms. of the Kalpasūtra).

(XII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अतिथि भारदे वासे) This version is in about 100 Prākṛta stanzas, composed by Bhāvadevasūri, who describes himself as a descendant of Kālikācārya himself. This version is edited by Leumann at ZDMG, Vol. 37, p. 493ff., and by Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 87 ff. AM. 206; DA. 18 (19); JA. 89 (8); Jesal. No. 386; Limdi. No. 89 (ms. dated Sain. 1538); 263 (ms. dated Sain. 1481); 930; Pet. I. A. p. 30; RAS. London (ms. dated Sain. 1461, mentioned by Brown).

(XIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (नयंरमि धरावासे) This version contains 57 Prākṛta stanzas composed in Sain. 1389 by Dharmaprabhasūri. Edited by Brown, at Story of Kālaka, p. 92 ff., and also by Leumann at ZDMG., vol. 37, p. 505 ff. Ahmedabad, Lohar Pol Bhandar, 38 (3); (a ms. of the Kalpasūtra); Cambay, Vijayanemisūri Bhandar, 181 (2); PAZB. (19, dated Sain. 1502); for the other three European mss., see Brown, p. 93. The following mss. also are very probably of this version:—Limdi. Nos. 332; 598 (dated Sain. 1472); 774; and 930. The two middle ones are illustrated with beautiful pictures.

(XIV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (श्रीवीरबाक्यानुमते) This version contains 65 Sanskrit stanzas. It is published at the end of the Kalpasūtra in the DLP. Series, No. 18, Bombay, 1914. It is also edited from 11 mss. by Brown, Story of Kālaka, p. 98 ff. See also Buh. II. No. 337. In addition to these 12, I may mention only one more ms., namely, Limdi. No. 153. See also Patan Cat. I. p. 411 No. 3-2.

(XV) कालिकाचार्यकथा (हयपणिनीयपयावो) This version is in 120 Prākṛta Gāthās. Edited from nine mss. in his Story of Kālaka, p. 71 ff. In addition to these 9 mss., the following Limdi. mss. also seem to contain this version:—Limdi. Nos. 679; 680; 930; cf. also AM. 397; Pet. I. A. p. 17; III. A. p. 225.

(XVI) कालिकाचार्यकथा (हयपणिनी भो कवित्थय) This version is in 105 Prākṛta stanzas and was probably composed by Dharmakīrti (afterwards Dhammaghosasūri), pupil of Vidyānanda and Devendra Sūris of the Tapa Gaccha. A single ms. of this version is so far known and it is JA. 5 (2). Compare, Brown, p. 33 (No. 15). The information which I have given above and which is not given by Brown was obtained by me from a Prasasti copied out from this ms., for Dr. T. L. Shah, of Baroda, where the following line occurs:—Vidyānandarisinam yo Devindo (ya) Dhammakittidharo.

(XVII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (अवन्तिविसय उज्जैनीनयरीए) This version is from Bhadrēśvara's Kathāvali. It is in Prākṛta and is written in mixed verse and prose. This is published with an analysis by Brown at Story of Kālaka, pp. 102-107.

(XVIII) कालिकाचार्यकथा (प्रणम्य श्रीगुरुं) This prose version in Sanskrit was composed by Samayasundara, pupil of Sakalacandra of the Kharatara Gaccha in Sam. 1666. It is published along with the Kalpasūtra-Kalpalatā in the Jinadattasūri Pustakoddhāra Fund, Series, Surat, 1939. Besides the two mss. mentioned by Brown, p. 34, the following may be recorded:—Baroda. No. 2994; Bik. No. 1488; BK. No. 1242; Cal. X. No. 57; Chani. No. 913; Kaira. B. 112; PAPS. 48 (93); PRA. Nos. 202, 476.

The following versions, the accuracy of information regarding which cannot be guaranteed, are not used by Prof. Brown in his Story of Kālaka:—

✓ कुमारपालचरित is a Prākṛta poem in 8 cantos, describing the life of King Kumārapāla and at the same time illustrating the rules of Prākṛta grammar composed by Hemacandra. It is published in the Bombay S. Series, 1900. This poem is really the second part of the Dvyāśrayakāvya composed by Hemacandra, to illustrate his Sabdānuśāsana, the first part illustrating Sanskrit grammar being usually known as the Dvyāśrayakāvya (s. v.). Agra. No. 2896.

DC. p. 1 identifies this with the same author's Dhanyasālibhadracaritra through mistake. My Prasasti clearly says that the Kṛtapuṇyacaritra was composed in Sam. 1305 (baṇasūnyānalāgīṇau saṅkhyebde mār-gasīrsasitadasāmadine) at Jesalmir, while the Dhanyasālibhadracaritra was composed at the same place in Sam. 1285 (śaravasaravisāṅkhye) by Purnabhadra. (1) Avacūrṇi by Guṇaratnasūri, pupil of Devasundarasūri of the Tapā Gaccha. It was composed for Jñānasagarasūri, the eldest of Devasundara's pupils ; cf. Pet. VI. A. p. 53, lines 8-9. I think we have to read Jñānasāgarakṛte for Jñānasagarakṛta which latter however, seems to be the reading of at least three mss. and has given rise to the idea that Jñānasāgara was the author. JG. p. 122, has committed this mistake. BK. No. 724 ; BO. p. 15 ; Chani. No. 952 ; DA. 56 (11-16, 26 ; 96-97) ; DB. 33 (21, 22) ; Hamsa. गणधरसार्धशतक in 150 Gāthās composed by Jinadattasūri, pupil of Jinavallabhasūri of the Kharatara Gaccha. See Bhand. III. A. p. 45ff, where a brief summary of the contents is given. The work describes the lives of the Jain pontiffs of the Kharatara Gaccha. The author says that the title Kharatara was first conferred upon Jineśvara, the pupil and successor of Vardhamānasūri and the Gaccha owes its name to this fact. This is, however, repeatedly controverted by the followers of the Tapā Gaccha. The work is published as an Appendix in Gaek. O. Series, No. 27, Baroda, 1927. It is also published with the commentary of Sarvarāja (No. 2) by Hiralal Hamsaraj, Jamnagar, 1916. AM. 258; 307; Baroda. No. 2106; Bhand. VI. No. 1142; BK. Nos. 387; 1928; Chani. (this ms. is dated Sam. 1683. It was copied from another, at Patan. This latter was copied in great haste in Sam. 1606, by Vinayāsāgara, Jñānavināla, Vinayasāgara and Vivekavināla Gaṇis. The cause of the haste is given in the Prasasti as follows:- When Dharmasāgaragaṇi composed his Tattvatarāṅgiṇī at Nārada-purī, the Kharataras began to quarrel saying that they had been covertly criticised in the work. Dharmasāgara thereupon sent Vinayasāgara to Patan to find out the old palm-leaf manuscript of Gurutattvapradīpa, which, he was sure, would support his point of contention. Vinayasāgara went to Patan and did find the ms. at the house of Sadayavatsa Thākura. The Bṛhatcchālīka Lāṅgīkas, when they knew this, demanded the book immediately, saying that it belonged to them. Vinayasāgara then, with the help of his friends very hastily copied it and returned the manuscript to them. Afterwards the substance of this work was added in a separate chapter to his Tattvatarāṅgiṇī by Dharmasāgaragaṇi. The author of the Prasasti is Vivekavinālagāṇi; SG. No. 1612 (foll. 84).

✓ गोमटसार of Saiddhāntika Nemicandra. The work is also known as Guṇasthānaka or Pañca-saṅgraha (Pet. I. A. p. 74, V. No. 929). It is in Prakṛta and is divided into two parts called Jivakāṇḍa containing 733 stanzas and Karmakāṇḍa containing 972. It is edited with Abhayacandra's commentary on the 1st Kāṇḍa and Keśava Varṇin's commentary on the IIṇḍ in No. 4 of Haribhai Devakarana Granthamālā, Calcutta, 1921. It is also edited with introduction, translation and notes in English, by J. L. Jaini, in Sacred Books of the Jains, Vols. 5 and 6, Lucknow, 1927. It is published in two parts, with Sanskrit and Hindi translations in the RJS. Series, Bombay. चन्द्रप्रज्ञप्तिसूत्र is the 7th Upāṅga of the Jain canon. In its present form it is wholly identical with the Sūryaprajñaptisūtra. W. Schubring, Lehre Der Jainas, p. 71, thinks that it is possible to assume that the last 11 chapters of this Sūtra, where the moon and the stars occupy a prominent place, formed the original Candraprajñaptisūtra.

सेठका कूचा मंडी, इटली

Prākṛta and contains encyclopaedic information on medicinal formulae, spells and amulets and such other kindred matter. The author tells us how he could not study Yoniprābhṛta from his Guru who was displeased with him (this must have been a Vidyāguru and not the regular Dikṣāguru) and hence he studied the subject from some one else and composed the present work. The Poona ms. namely Pet. IV. No. 1242 is incomplete and contains only the last nine chapters (cf. the quotations at Pet. IV. A. pp. 86-87). The last 9 chapters (35-43) are printed at Bombay and there exist two mss. of the first 34 chapters, one at Kekadī and another at Nasirabad. See for the information, Anekānta, II. pp. 685ff. and also pp. 611ff.; 485ff.

जम्बूद्वीपसम्राट् in 88 Prākṛta Gāthās (acc. to JA. note) by Unāśvātī Vācaka. This however is not seen by me. According to K. P. Mody, it is written in Sanskrit prose and is divided into 4 chapters. He has published the same in the Appendix to his edition of the Tatvārtha Sūtra in the Bibliotheca Indica Series, Calcutta, 1903. The commentator also is Vijayasinhāsūri (and not Śrīvijaya), pupil of Haribhadrasūri of the Candra Gaccha. For this Sanskrit Jambūdvīpasamāsa, compare JG. p. 121 and Bt. No. 125. (5) Vivaraṇa in Prākṛta Gāthās (Grain. 543 ; Be :- sirivirajinaṇi namium). See Bt. No. 40 (5). This is wrongly supposed to be the Jītakalpasūtra at Pet. V. A. p. 131, line 21. Really speaking, it is a sort of Cūrṇi or Vivaraṇa as the Brhāttippanikā 40 (5) calls it. Tilakācārya probably bases his commentary on this ; cf. Pet. V. A. p. 131, v. 4. This Vivaraṇa seems to be wholly incorporated in the commentary of Tilakācārya, and may be found in all mss. of the same. See below (6). Bt. No. 40 (5) ; Pet. V. A. p. 131.

जैनतर्कवार्तिकवृत्ति also called Vicāraḥkalikā (cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 87), of Śāntisūri. The author of the text i. e. Jainatarka, is said to be Siddhasena Divākara ; that of the Vārtika is unknown and that of the Vṛtti on it is Śāntisūri, pupil of Vardhamānasūri. The text of the Vārtika consists 55 Śloka in all, divided into four chapters. It is published with the commentary, in the Pandit, Benares, 1917. DC. p. 22 ; Jesal. No. 831 ; Kundi. No. 173. Also cf. Patan Cat. I. pp. 41 ; 86, 299 ; according to the latter authority, the Vārtika is a commentary on Siddhasena's Nyāyāvātāra (s. v.).

जैनधर्मचरसंस्तवन composed in Sam. 1791, by Bhāvaprabhasūri, pupil of Mahimaprabhasūri of the Pūrṇima Gaccha. The Stotra is a Samasyāpūrtistotra based upon the Kalyāṇamandira Stotra. In it, one line i. e. the last one from every stanza of the Kalyāṇamandira is taken as the basis of each corresponding stanza, the three other lines being composed by the author. Baroda. जैनेन्द्रकल्याणाभ्युदय of Appayyārya. See Jinendrakalyāṇābhhyudaya. १७७९.

(I) जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रिया of Guṇanandin. This really seems to be the work of a pupil of Śrutakīrti, who is mentioned in the last stanza, and who must have based his work on Guṇanandin's version of the Jainendra Vyākaraṇa ; cf. JH. Vol. 15, p. 49. Published by the Sanātana Jaina Grantha-mālā, Benares, A. D. 1914. Idar. 146 (dated Sam. 1561) ; SRA. 49.

(II) जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रिया by Pandit Vairāsīdhara, a very recent writer who models his work on the Siddhāntakaumudī of Bhaṭṭojī. This is mentioned in the introduction to the edition of Guṇanandin's works.

(III) जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रिया of Meghavijaya. Tera. 11. This is doubtful. Perhaps this is a copy of the author's Candraprabhāvyākaraṇa (s. v.)

जैनेन्द्रप्रक्रियावतार BO. p. 30 ; Mud. 209 ; 224.

जैनेन्द्रयज्ञफलोदय of Kalyāṇakīrti. KO.

(I) जैनेन्द्रयज्ञविधि is a work on the worship of the Jinas, cast in the form of the ceremonial Prayogas of the Brāhmaṇas, composed by Śrutasāgara, pupil of Vidyānandin, successor of Devendrakīrti ; cf. Bhand. IV. p. 117. Bhand. IV. No. 293.

(II) जैनेन्द्रयज्ञविधि by Abhayānandin. See Śreyovīdhāna. SGR. IV. p. 68.

जैनेन्द्रव्याकरण also called Pañcādhyāyī from its five chapters, by Devanandin otherwise known as Pūjyapāda. It is in two recensions. The longer one contains about 700 Sūtras more than the shorter one. Abhayānandin's commentary is on the shorter recension, while Somadeva comments on the longer one which he ascribes to Guṇanandin as is clear from the introductory and concluding verses in his commentary. Pañcavastu (s v.) is only a recast or a Prakriyā by one Śrutakīrti of the shorter recension, while Jainendraprakriyā (see No. I above) is a similar recast of the longer one. The six authors i. e. Bhūtabālī, Śrīdatta, Yaśobhadra, Prabhācandra, Siddhasena and Samantabhadra quoted in the Jainendra are considered as fictitious names by some, but the more probable view is that they were merely well known Jain authors, who used the particular grammatical forms and not necessarily old Grammarians. See IA. vol. X. p. 75 ; Belvalkar, Systems of Grammar, pp. 62-68 and Jaina Hitaiṣi, vol. 14, p. 350ff. ; vol. 15, p. 54ff. ज्ञानादित्यप्रकरण in 84 Gāthās in Prakṛta composed by Haribhadrāsūri. This is translated as Nānā-citra by Weber. II. p. 987 and Peterson, Reports, IV. Index, p. CXXXVIII from the Prākṛta word Nānāitta. The work contains philosophical advice and hence the name Jñānāditya 'sun of knowledge.' But it is quite possible that it derived its name from the first words of v. 2; cf. Patan (at. I. p. 366. From this it would seem that Nanācitta (s. v.) is the correct title. JA. 25 (11); JG. pp. 99; 178. Pet. I. A. p. 48; Prabandhakosā. 25. See Nānācitta.

(I) ज्ञानार्णव on Jain Philosophy, consisting of 2077 Ślokas divided into 42 chapters, composed by Śubhacandra, an old Digambara writer who quotes Jinasaṃ and Akalaṅka, but is different from his namesake who composed his Pāṇḍava Purāṇa in Saṃ. 1608. This is evident because Aśādharma (about Saṃ. 1290) quotes a few verses from Jñānārṇava in his com. on Iṣṭopadeśa; cf. Upadhye, ABORI. Vol. XIII. p. 38. The work is also called Yogārṇava or Yogapradīpa and is published in the RJS. Series, No. 3, Bombay, A. D. 1907. AD. Nos. 71; 163; 164; Baroda. No. 13145; Bengal. No. 6615; Bhand. V. तत्त्वार्थसारदीपक (Grām. 1800) by Sakalakīrti, successor of Padmanandin. It is a work in 12 chapters on the principles of Jain philosophy. For a summary of contents, cf. Bhand. IV. p. 106 ff. The work is not a commentary on the Tattvārthasūtra, as may appear from its title. Bhand. IV. No. 294 ; CP. p. 648 ; DLB. 21 ; Hum. 67 ; JG. p. 90 ; Idar. 43 (2 copies, one dated Sam. 1576 ; Pet. IV. No. 1426 ; SG. No. 2197 ; Strass. p. 302.

(I) तत्त्वार्थसूत्र also called Jinakalpī Sūtra. It contains 10 chapters and a total of 107 Sūtras (Be :- sadḍṛstijñānavṛttīatnā). It is ascribed to one Brhat Prabhācandra. For the only manuscript, see Anekānta, Vol. III. pp. 393 ff., 433 ff., where the text is wholly published with a Hindi translation and explanation.

(II) तत्त्वार्थसूत्र also called Tattvārthādhigamasūtra, contains in ten chapters, the principal doctrines of the Jainas. It is claimed by both the Digambaras and the Svetāmbaras. For a summary, compare S. Vidyabhusana, History of Indian Logic, p. 168 ff. The author is Umasvati (Umāsvāmin according to the Digambaras ; but this is incorrect ; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 269-270). The Svopajñabhāṣya expresses views which are opposed to those of the Digambaras ; hence, they do not consider it to be the work of the author of the Sūtras. Winternitz, History, II. p. 579, doubts ' whether the Digambaras are justified in claiming him as one of their own. ' All authorities agree that he belongs to a period when the difference between the two sects had not yet become very sharp. It is to be noted however, that while there are only 2 or 3 Svetāmbara commentaries on the Sūtra, there are as many as 15 to 20 Digāmbara ones on it. The text of the Digāmbara commentators has 367 Sūtras, while that of the Svetāmbara ones contains only 344 Sūtras ; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 587 ff. For a lucid discussion on the text of the Sūtra and the authorship of the Svopajña Bhāṣya etc. compare A. M.

Ghatage, B. U. J. Nov. 1935, p. 105. Also see Jainasatyaprakāśa, Vol. VI. p. 155 ff., for Prof. J. C. Jain's views on the matter. His contention is that the Svopajña Bhāṣya was composed by Umasvāti himself and was known as such to the author of the Rājavārtika. Both the text and the author's own Bhāṣya are published in the RJS. Series, Bombay, 1906, as also in the Bibliotheca Indica Series, Calcutta, 1903-1905 and in the Arhatamataprabhākara Series, Poona, 1926. They are again carefully edited together with the commentary of Siddhasena (and also Umāsvāti's own Samibandha Kārikās, 31 in number, accompanied by the commentary of Devagupta and Siddhasena at the beginning), by Prof. H. R. Kapadia, in the DLP. Series, Nos. 67 and 76, Bombay, 1926-1930. The text with the Sarvārthasiddhi of Pūjyapāda is published by Kallapa Nitve, Kolhapur, Śake 1839 (2nd ed.) ; with Rājavārtika of Akalanika in the Sanātana Jaina Granthamālā No. 4, Benares, 1915 ; and with the Ślokavārtika of Vidyānandin by Mohanlal Shastri, in the Natharanga Jaina Granthamālā, 1918. It is also edited with introduction, translation and notes in English, in the Sacred Books of the Jainas, No. 2, by J. L. Jaini, Arrah, 1920. It is translated into German and explained by H. Jacobi, in ZDMG., Vol. 60, pp. 287, 512. AD. Nos. 4 ; 23 ; 41 ; 43 ; 51 ; 52 ; 112 ; 135 ; 149 ; 170, 186 ; Agra. Nos. 799 to 804 ; AK. Nos. 288 to 300 ; 303 ; Bengal. (1) Svopajña Bhāṣya (Grām. 2142). The Digambaras do not admit that this Bhāṣya is by the author of the Sūtra, whom they call Umāsvāmin and not Umāsvāti. It contains views that are opposed to those of the Digambaras. Agra. No. 802; Bhand. VI. Nos. 1162-1163; BO. p. 32; Buh. VI. No. 606; DB. 15 (3; 4); JA. 87 (1; a good copy dated Sam. 1445); Jesal. (2) Vṛtti called Gandhahastibhāṣya (Grām. 84000) by Vādigajagandhahastin Siddhasena Divākara. JG. p. 88; Kiel. III. No. 7; cf. Anekanta, I. pp. 216-219.

(3) Tika by Siddhasenagaṇi, pupil of Bhasvāmin, pupil of Simhasura etc. Among others, he quotes Siddhiviniścaya and Sṛṣṭiparīkṣā; cf. ABORI. vol. XIII. p. 335. Buh. VI. No. 595; DB. 15 (1; 2); JA. 87 (1, dated Sam. 1445); JHA. 34; Kath. No. 1267; Limdi. No. 601; Mitra. X. p. 97; Pet. III. A. p. 83 (quotation); V. No. 703; PAPS. 54

(4) Laghuvṛtti begun by Haribhadra and completed by Yaśobhadra, his pupil (Grām. 11000). This is quoted by Siddhasena, commentator of Pravacanasāroddhara (DLP. ed. p. 337) and is called the Mūla Tikā; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 581. Bhand. VI. No. 1161; BK. No. 132; Buh. VIII. No. 369; Chani. (5) Tikā by Nāgara Vacaka (Grām. 2490). PAP. 68 (11). This is the same as the Svopajña Bhāṣya. Umāsvāti was called Vacaka or Nāgara Vacaka.

(6) Tikā by Malayagiri. This is alluded to by himself in his commentary on the Prajñāpanasūtra (A. S. ed. p. 298); cf. Anekanta, I. p. 582.

(7) Tikā by Yośovijaya Upādhyāya. It is incomplete, cf. Anekanta, I. p. 596.

(8) Gandhahastimahābhāṣya of Samantabhadra (Grām. 84000). JG. p. 88. This appears to be a mistake. Samantabhadra's Bhāṣya on the Karma and Kaśāya Prābhrtas seems to have been mistaken for this; cf. JH. Vol. 14, pp. 109-117. But Laghusamantabhadra in his commentary on Aṣṭasastra mentions clearly that Samantabhadra composed the Gandhahastimahābhāṣya on Umāsvāti's Tattvārthasūtra; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 291. Even Hastimalla in his Vikrāntakaurava Nataka similarly ascribes it to Samantabhadra. Also cf. J. R. Mukhtar, Samantabhadra, p. 220.

तीर्थकल्प also called Vividhatirthakalpa or Kalpa-pradīpa containing the legendary and historical account of the different Jain holy places of pilgrimage, 62 in number, composed between Sam. 1365-1390 by Jinaprabhasūri, pupil of Jinasinhasūri of the Kharatara Gaccha. It is a very useful book and is written partly in Sanskrit and partly in Prakṛta. The different parts were written separately and then put together by the author. It is being published in the Bibliotheca Indica Series. The first part containing the complete text of the work critically edited with the help of 8 mss. by Pandit Jinavijaya, is also published in the Singhī Jain Series, 10, at Santiniketan, Bengal, 1934. - त्रिमङ्गलसार by Nemicaṇḍra Saiddhāntika. The work consists of the following parts :- (1) Āsraṇatribhaṅgī, (2) Bandhatribhaṅgī, (3) Udayodiraṇatribhaṅgī, (4) Sattātribhaṅgī, (5) Sattvasthānatribhaṅgī, (6) Bhāvatribhaṅgī. As is seen from Vel. No. 1613 however, the different parts belong to different authors. The first i. e. Āsraṇatribhaṅgī contains 63 Gāthās and is ascribed to Śrutamuni. The second i. e. Bandhatribhaṅgī in 44 Gāthās is ascribed to Mādhavacandra, pupil of Nemicaṇḍra. The third i. e. Udayodiraṇa or Udayatribhaṅgī in 73 Gāthās is ascribed to Nemicaṇḍra. The fourth i. e. Sattātribhaṅgī in 35 Gāthās is also by Nemicaṇḍra. The fifth i. e. Sattvasthānatribhaṅgī in 37 Gāthās is by Kanakanandin ; this is accompanied by Nemicaṇḍra's commentary at Vel. No. 1613. The last i. e. Bhāvatribhaṅgī in 116 Gāthās is again by Śrutamuni. See under the different heads. The first and the last of these are published in the MDG. Series, No. 20. For quotations

दशाश्रुतस्कन्ध is the fourth Chelasūtra. It contains ten Uddēśas, the 8th of which is called the Kalpasūtra. See Schubring, Lehre der Jainas, p. 76. The Kalpasūtra (s. v.) is separately published with commentaries very often; but the Daśāśrutaskandha as a whole is not yet published so far as I know. The whole is ascribed to Bhadrabāhu, who is said to have extracted it from the 9th Pūrva. The Sūtra is also known as Acāradaśa, owing to its 10 books on the conduct of the Jaina monks. Agra. द्रव्यसङ्ग्रह is a brief exposition of Jain philosophy in 58 Prakṛta stanzas by Nemicaṇḍra, a Digambara writer. See Vel. No. 1615. It is published with Brahmadeva's commentary in the RJS. Series, No. 10, Bombay, 1919 and in the Sulabha Jaina Granthāvali, No.1, Calcutta 1921. It is also edited with the same commentary and introduction, translation and notes in English, by S. G. Ghoshal, Arrah, 1917, in the Sacred Books of the Jainas, Vol. I. The author lived in the 10th Century A. D. From Strass. p. 304, it would seem that the work existed also in a shorter recension of 26 verses which was composed by the author himself earlier. AD. Nos. 73, 165; 173, Agra. - (I) द्याधयकाव्य or 'the Poem with a double purpose' is the first of Hemacandra's 'Dvyāśrayakāvya-kumārāpālarita'. The whole poem is intended to describe the life of King Kumārāpāla of Gujrat and at the same time to illustrate the rules of Sanskrit and Prākṛta Grammar, contained in the author's Śabdānuśāsana or the Sid-dhahemacandram. The first part in San-skrit which illustrates Sanskrit grammar i. e., the first seven Adhyāyas of the Hai-maśabdānuśāsana, contains 20 cantos. It describes the Chālukya Dynasty and the life of Siddharāja Jayasimha, and is generally known by the name Dvyāśrayakāvya. The second part usually known as Kumārāpālarita (s. v.), illustrates Prākṛta grammar i. e., the 8th Adhyāya of the Śabdānuśāsana and contains 8 cantos and is naturally written in Prākṛta. Dvyāśrayakāvya is edited with the com-mentary of Abhayatilakagaṇi by Prof. Kathavate in the Bombay S. Series, 1915 to 1921. Agra. No. 2897; Bhand. VI. No. 1347; BK. No. 141; BO. pp. 59; 72; Buh. No. 844, the Vṛtti was corrected by Pradyumna, pupil of Kanakaprabhasūri of the Devānanda Gaccha. This would bring Munideva down to the 14th century of the Sainvat Era. Besides his Śāntināthacaritra was composed in Sain. 1322, in which also he was assisted by the same Pradyumna; cf. Pet. I. A. p. 4. This commentary is based on No. (1); cf. Patan Cat.  assumption is based upon a wrong splitting of a sentence in Bt. Nos. 637, 638,

नन्दीसिंहविरुद्धावली by Sumatikīrti in 39 Sanskrit stanzas. PR. No. 222.

नन्दीसूत्र is a work of a comparatively late origin and mentions almost all the Jain canon-cal works. Malayagiri ascribes it to Devardhigaṇi himself. But its account of the canonical works does not agree with their present form which we owe to Devardhigaṇi. This is one of the two independent Āgamas outside the group, the second being the Anuyogadvārasūtra. It is published with Malayagiri's commentary in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 16, Bombay, 1924. An older edition of the same commentary is by Rāj Bahadur Dhanjatsimha, Benares, Sam. 1936. The text with Jinadāsa's Cūrṇi (No. 1) and Haribhadra's commentary (No. 3) on it, is published by R. K. Samsthā, Rutlam, 1928.

न्यायार्थमञ्जूषा composed by Hemahansa, pupil of Ratnasekharasūri of the Tapā Gaccha in Sam. 1516. This is a commentary by Hemahansa on Nyāya's or the grammatical axioms which are 141 in number. Also see Haimavyākaraṇa-Nyāyasaṅgraha. Of these, 57 were collected and put forth by Hemacandra himself at the end of his Bhādvṛtti on his own Śabdānuśāsana and the remaining 84 were put forth by Hemahansa. These all he calls by the name Nyāyasaṅgrahasūtra. The commentary is divided into four chapters. It mentions an earlier Vṛtti called Prajñāpanā on the first 57 Nyāyas. It is published by Harsacandra Bhurabhai, Benares, Vir. Sam. 2437 and also in the YJG. Series, No. 45, Bhavanagar. For quotations etc., compare Vel. No. 76. Agra. Nos. 2608 to 2611 ; Bendall. Nos.

पञ्चप्रन्थीव्याकरण composed in Sañi. 1080 by Buddhisaṅgaurasūri, pupil of Vardhamānasūri. It is also called Buddhisaṅgaravyākaraṇa or Śabdalaṅkāra. In his Pramālaṅkāra, Jineśvara, his spiritual brother, says that this Vyākaraṇa and his Pramālaṅkāra were composed because people said that the Jains had no Pramā and Śabda Lakṣmas of their own. He further says that the Vyākaraṇa was in verse and was composed after consulting Pāṇini, Cāndra, Jainendra, and Viśrānta (?) Vyākaraṇas and the Durga-tikā. See JH. Vol. 13, p. 421. It is alluded to in Sañi. 1095, by Dhaneśvara in his Surasundarikathā; in Sañi. 1120 by Abhayadevasūri in his Pañcāśaka-Vṛtti; in Sañi. 1125 by Jinacandra in his Sañivegarauṅgāśālā; in Sañi. 1139 by Gunacandra in his Mahāvīracaritra; by Jinadattasūri in his Gaṇadharasārdhaśataka; by Padmaprabha in his Kunthunāthacaritra and lastly in Sañi. 1334 by Prabhācandra in his Prabhāvakacaritra; cf. पद्मानन्दकाव्य also called Caturviṁśatījinacaritra or Jinendracaritra composed by Amara-candra, pupil of Jinadattasūri of the Vāyada Gaccha. The Jinendracaritra composed by our author is in two recensions. The one which is shorter (JA. 72'1) contains about 1802 Ślokas divided into 24 chapters and the other (JA. 72'2) which is longer, contains 6281 Ślokas. The longer recension contains 19 cantos and is called Padmānanda Kāvya. It is critically edited by Prof. H. R. Kapadia in the Gaek. O. Series, No. 58, Baroda, 1932. The shorter Jinaendra-Caritra is published in the Appendix Ka of the Gaek. O. S. editon. The longer recension is called Padmānanda Kāvya, because it was composed at the special request of the minister Padma. The shorter Jinendracaritra contains the lives of all the 24 Jinas, while the longer one contains only the life of the first Jina. At the end of the 18th Sarga, it is described as Vṛṣabhadevacaritābhidhano grantah. BK. No. 32; DB. 25 (1; 2); JA. 72 (1; 2); Jesal. (II) पार्श्वनाथकाव्य in seven chapters by Padma-sundara, pupil of Padmanameru, pupil of Ānandameru. The author is very likely a Digambara and is identical with the author of Rāyamallodaya in Sam. 1615. Baroda. No. 2213; Bhand. VI. No. 1385 (ms. dated Sam. 1618); Bod. No. 1403; JG. p. 245.

(III) पार्श्वनाथकाव्य See Pārsvanāthapurāṇa of Vādirāja (No. 1).

(I) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Gram. 9000) by Devabhadra-gaṇi, pupil of Śūmati Upādhyaya and Prasannacandra, both pupils of Abhaya-devasūri. It is in Prakṛta and contains five chapters and was composed in Sam. 1168 at Bharoch. Very curiously this work is mentioned in the Prasāsti of an earlier work of the author i. e., Kathāratnakośa; cf. Pet. III. A. p. 140. This is probably because this Prasāsti was composed later. Bt. No. 277; DC. p. 37; JA. 20 (1); Jesal. No. 25; JG. p. 244; Kundi. No. 229; PAS. No. 304 (dated Sam. 1199); Patan. Cat. I. p. 219; Pet. III. A. p. 64; (quotations); PRA. No. 1278 (No. 20).

(II) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र also called Pārsvanātha-Deśa-bhavaritra, containing 2564 Prakṛta Gāthās. Anonymous. Bt. No. 278; JA. p. 245.

(III) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र by Saryānandasūri, pupil of Guṇabhadrasūri of the Jālibhara Gaccha. This is mentioned in Sam. 1254, by the author's grand-pupil Devasūri, (pupil of Dharmghoṣa), in his Padmaprabhacaritra (s. v.). This is different from the next.

(IV) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Be: om namo viśvamiṭṭrāya; Gram. 5278) composed in Sam. 1276, by Māṇikyacandra, pupil of Sāgaracandra, pupil of Nemicaṇḍra of the Rāja Gaccha. The poem is written in Sanskrit and contains ten cantos. JA. 36 (1); Pet. III. A. p. 157 (quotation).

(V) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र in five cantos composed in Sañ. 1291 by Sarvānandasūri, pupil of Guṇaratnasūri, pupil and successor of Śīlabhadra &c. Another work of the author is Candraprabhacaritra (No. III) composed in Sañ. 1302. Bt. No. 274; JG. p. 245; PAS. No. 313; also cf. Patan Cat. I. pp. 72-73 (quotations).

(VI) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Grain. 6400) composed in Sañ. 1412, (ravivīśvavarse, but cf. Patan Cat. I. p. 166-168 for a ms. dated Sañ. 1379 of this work according to the title given on p. 166. This however, may not be correct.) by Bhāvadevasūri, pupil of Jinadevasūri, descendant of Kālikācārya. It is in eight chapters. It is published in the YJG. series No. 32 Benares, 1912. For a digest of the work, see Bloomfield, 'The life etc. of Pārśvanātha,' Baltimore, 1919. Baroda. No. 2860; Bengal. Nos. 2586; 2587; 3040; 7650; Bhand. III. No. 444; VI. Nos. 1321; 1386; BK. (VII) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र in Sanskrit (Grain. 4709) composed before Sañ. 1460, by Vinayacandra, pupil of Raviprabhasūri of the Candra Gaccha. This Vinayacandra is probably the same as the author of Kaviśikṣā (II). See Patan Cat. I. p. 48. BK. No. 400 (ms. dated Sañ. 1460); JG. p. 245; PAP. 35 (7); PAPR. 4 (5).

(VIII) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र in Sanskrit (Grain. 3160) composed in Sañ. 1632 by Hemavijaya, pupil of Kamalavijaya of the Tapā Gaccha. He wrote his Kathāratnākara (s. v.) in Sañ. 1657. It is published by Mrs. Bhikhibai Chhnilal Pannalal (in the Chhnilal Granthamālā) Bombay, Sañ. 1972. JG. p. 245; PAP. 62 (24).

(IX) पार्श्वनाथचरित्र (Grain. 5500) composed in Sañ. 1654, by Udayaviragaṇi, pupil of Saṅghavira, pupil of Hemasoma of the Tapā Gaccha. It is written in Sanskrit prose and is divided into eight chapters. It is published by the JDPS. Bhavnagar, Sañ. 1970. Bhand. VI. No. 1322; Bik. No. 1502; BO. p. 30; DA. 46 (5; 6; 7); DB. 27 (10; 11); Flo. No. 721; JG. p. 245; PAPS. 47 (18); 50 (7); Punjab. No. 1654; Strass. p. 443; VC. 8 (31); VD. 8 (11).

(2) Vṛtti called Śisyaḥitā (Be: nam-ramareśvara), composed partly by Hari-bhadra (Grām. 1350) and partly by Viragaṇi, pupil of Devācārya (Grām. 1750); cf. Bt. No. 28; DI. p. 22. But compare Kap. No. 1115 for a long quotation from the Praśasti of the Vṛtti. From this, the Grānthāgra of Viragaṇi's portion alone would seem to be 7671. The date of its composition given here is Sam. 1160. The name of the author's Guru is Isvaragaṇi who belonged to the Saravāḷaka Gaccha, according to the Praśasti. Mahendrasūri, Devacandragāṇi and Pārśvadevagaṇi helped him. It was corrected by Nemicaṇdrasūri and Jinadattasūri at Ahnīlavad. Bt. No. 28; Chani. No. 422; DB. 10 (7; 8); DC. p. 9, No. 80 (cf. DI. p. 22); Jesal. Nos. 889; 890; JG. p. 40; Kiel. II. - भगवतीसूत्र also called Vivāhprajñapti (viyāhapan-natti) or Vyākhyāprajñapti, is the 5th Aṅga of the Jain Āgama. It is published with the commentary of Abhayadeva in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, Nos. 12 to 14, Bombay, 1918-21 and also by M. R. Metha, Bombay, Sain. 1914. Book XV. (only the story of Gosala) is translated into English by Hoernle in the appendix to his translation of the Upāsakadāsāsūtra. An older edition of the Sūtra, with the commentary of Abhaya-deva by Ray Dhanpatisimha Bahadur Benares, 1882, also exists. Another similar edition was published by Pujahai Hirachand in the Raychanda Jināgama Sangraha, Ahmedabad. भरतेश्वरबाहुबलिवृत्ति Generally known as Kathākōśa, composed in Sañ. 1509 by Śubhaśīla, pupil of Munisundara of the Tapa Gaccha. It is called Vrtti as it is a sort of commentary on a few (about 13) Gāthās beginning with the words 'bharahesara-bāhubali.' A Gujarati translation of this work is published by Maganlal Hathising, Ahmedabad, 1909. An edition of the text is being published in the DLP Series; Part I is published as No. 77, Bombay, 1932. मूलाचार See Ācārāṅga Sūtra (II) by Vatterakacārya. It is regarded as a sort of compilation by a little known author called Vatteraka, who is surely different from Kundakunda, according to Mr. Paramananda Jaina Shastri. He points out how it contains a large number of Gāthās from (1) Kundakunda's works, (2) Āvaśyakaniryukti of Bhadrabāhu and (3) the Aradhanā of Sivakoti among others. See Anekānta, Vol. II. pp. 319-324.

मूलाचारप्रदीप by Sakalakūrti. It is in 12 chapters and is probably based on Vatteraka's work; for quotations, cf. SGR. V. p. 52 ff. For mss., see Ācārāṅga Sūtra (No. II) Tika No. (3). The work seems to have been composed in Sain. 1481. See SGR. V. p. 56. Also see PR. No. 10.

राजपुद्गीयसूत्र is the second Upāṅga, of the Jain Canon. It is published with Malayagiri's commentary by Ray Bahadur Dhanapatisimha, Calcutta, 1880 and in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series No. 42, Bombay, 1925. The Sanskrit rendering of the original word Rāyapasenaijja is doubtful; Malayagiri explains the name by 'Rājaprasneṣu bhavam'. Siddhasenagani in his com. on the Tattvārthasūtra renders the title by 'Rājaprasenakiya'. Evidently the tradition does not know the correct meaning of the name of the Sūtra; cf. Weber, Ind. Stud. XVI. p. 382 ff; Annals. BORI. Vol. 14, p. 149; W. Schubring, Lehre Der Jainas, pp. 67; 68. Agra. Nos. 162-163; 165-170; AM. 73; 110; 137; 155; 293; 360; 381; Baroda. Nos. 1777; 2147; 2908; Bengal. (1) Vrtti. SA. No. 602.

(I) वराहनुपचरित्र believed to have been composed by Raviṣeṇa, pupil of Lakṣmaṇasena. This is mentioned in Jināsena's Hari-vaiṇśapurāṇa I. 35 and also in the Kuvalayamālā of Uddyotanasūri. This is however, a mistake as is conclusively shown by Prof. Dr. A. N. Upadhye at ABORI., Vol. 14, pp. 61-63. The real author is Jaṭila, according to him.

(II) वराहनुपचरित्र (Grain. 1383) by Vardhamāna Bhaṭṭāraka of the Balātkāragana, Sarasvati Gaccha of Mūla Saṅgha. It is in 13 cantos; cf. Anekānta, I. p. 273; SGR. V. pp. 66-68 for quotations. Bhand. (I) शतपदी Composed by Dharmaghosa, pupil of Jayasūrinba of the Añcala Gaccha in Sarin. 1263. It consists of a hundred objections against Jainism with their refutations. AM. 282 ; Chani. No. 15 ; Kaira B. 27 ; Pet. V. A. p. 66 ; SA. No. 1617.

All these, however, seem to be the mss. of the next work.

(II) शतपदी (Gram. 5450) also called Praśnottara-paddhati, composed by Mahendrasiriha-sūri, pupil of Dharmaghosa of the Añcala Gaccha, in Sam. 1294. This is nothing but a revised and to a certain extent enlarged form of Dharmaghosa's work as the author himself plainly states. A ms. containing Dharmaghosa's original work does not seem to exist. Only this one is mentioned at Bt. No. 160. AM. 282; Bt. No. 160; Buh. III. Nos. 134; 135; Chani. No. 15; DA. 31 (62); 76 (3); DB. 16 (23; 24); JA. 104 (2); JG. p. 164; Kaira. B. 27; Kiel. III. शान्तसुधारसभावनाकाव्य composed in Sam. 1723 by Vinayavijayagaṇi, pupil of Kīrtivijaya of the Tapā Gaccha. It is a Geyakāvya like the Gitagovinda. It is in 16 chapters containing about 175 Sanskrit stanzas. It is published by Bhimsi Manek, Bombay, in his Prakaraṇaratnākara, Vol. II. and also in the Amīdhārā by Pandit Kṣamāvijayagaṇi, Bombay, 1924. It is also published with the commentary of

(3) Vṛtti by Hemakalaśa Upādhyaya. Surat. 1, 4, 5, 9; VB. (7). This is a mistake. According to PRA. No. 1088, Hemakalaśa merely wrote out the first copy of the Svopajña Vṛtti.

(II) आशुदिनकृत्य (Grain. 425) of Devendra, pupil of Jagaccandra of the Caitravala Gaccha. This is obviously the same as above. The mistake is really curious. The work belongs to Devendra of the Tapa Gaccha according to Munisundarasūri. PAP. 59 (26; 27; 29), PAPS. 1 (6); 46 (1; 16; 17); PAS. No. 434.

आवकप्रज्ञप्ति (Be :- arihante vandittā) in 405 Kārikās composed by Umāsvāti Vācaka. Edited by K. P. Mody, Bombay, Sam. 1961; the editor thinks that the author of Srāvaka-prajñapati is Haribhadra, the commentator himself, since the 2nd and 114th Kārikās in it are ascribed to him by Abhayadevasūri in his commentary on the Pañcāsaka and by Lāvaṇyavijaya in his commentary on v. 56 of Dravyasaptati respectively. The mss. however, usually ascribe it to Umāsvāti, though the Hamsa Note ascribes it to Haribhadra Bhand. V.No. 1233; BK. No. 46; Cham. सप्तक्षेत्रीनामकथा (Grām. 7200) composed in Sam. 1178 by Guṇākarasūri. Bt. No. 328; JG. p. 235.

सप्ततिकासूत्र is a work on Karman, consisting of about 70 Gāthās and ascribed to Candrasī Mahattara. It is generally appended to Devendra's Karmagrantha. Devendra seems to have added a few (about 20) stanzas to the original and perhaps also commented on it ; see below, Com. No. (8). It is published with Abhayadeva's Bhāṣya (No. 3) and Merutuṅga's commentary on it (No. 6), in the JDPS. Series, No. 41, Bhavnagar, 1919. Baroda. No. 3013 ; Bhand. V. Nos. 1239 ; 1240 ; BO. p. 93 (Karmagrantha-vṛtti) ; Chani. No. 547 ; DA. 52 (15 ; 16) ; 53 (2 ; 14 ; 24 ; 31 ; 32 ; 33 ; 34) ; 54 (14 to 32) ; DB. 32 (13 ; 19 to 22) ; JA. 79 (1) ; Jesal. (1) Cūrṇi in Prākṛta. No mss. of this Cūrṇi are available. Yet it is the basis of the commentaries of Abhayadeva and Malayagiri, as they themselves acknowledge. Even Bt. No. 114 says that no mss. of it are available. Bt. No. 115 makes a distinction between this Cūrṇi and the Prākṛta commentary by Candragāṇi Mahattara. But perhaps the two may be identical. JG. p. 119 mentions however, a few mss. of this Cūrṇi.

(2) Prākṛta Tikā (Grām. 2300) composed by Candragāṇi Mahattara. Bt. No. 115. Is this author's own commentary ? cf. BO. p. 93 (Karmagrantha-vṛtti).

(3) Prākṛta Bhāṣya (Be : - namī-ūṇa mahāvīram) in about 190 Gāthās, ascribed to Abhayadeva (probably from the last Gāthā) who says it is based on the old Cūrṇi. Buh. IV. No. 210 ; DA. 53 (31 ; 32 ; 33 ; 34) ; DB. 32 (19 to 22) ; Limdi. No. 809 ; Pet. III. A. p. 218 ; SA. No. 444. Perhaps Buh. IV. No. 210 is a copy of the same.

(4) Prākṛta Tīppana (Be : - sugai-gamasaralasarāṇi) consisting of about 547 (448 - DC. p. 40) Gāthās acc. to Bt., composed by Rāmadevagaṇi, pupil of Jinavallabhasūri of the Kharatara Gaccha. Even this is based on the Cūrṇi as the author himself says ; cf. DI. pp. 33-34. Bt. No. 116 ; DA. 54 (26) ; DC. p. 40, No. 319 (dated Sam. 1211) ; Jesal. No. 137.

(5) Tikā based on the old Cūrṇi and composed by Malayagiri. It is in Sanskrit (Grām. 3780). Baroda. No. 3013 ; Bengal. No. 2573 ; Buh. II. Nos. 248 ; 249 ; IV. No. 213 ; VII. No. 23 ; Chani. (7) Tikā composed by Devendra-sūri of the Tapā Gaccha who supplemented the original text with 20 verses. It is mentioned by Guṇaratna ; see next.

(8) Avacūṛṇi based upon Devendra's commentary as the author himself says, and composed in Sam. 1459, by Guṇaratnasūri, pupil of Devasundarasūri of the Tapā Gaccha. As Guṇaratna was a descendent of Devendra, his information regarding Devendra's commentary must be regarded as reliable. JG. p. 119; PAP. 11 (19); PRA. No. 525.

It is published with a commentary in the JAS. Series No. 64, Bhavnagar, 1921. It has no connection with the Astaprabhrtas of Kundakunda. It is probably a Śvetāmbara work. It is quoted by Malayagiri in his commentary on the Nandi Sūtra. He also mentions a commentary on it. See Anekānta, Vol. II, p. 548. In the introduction to the printed edition, the editor mentions a ms. of the published commentary existing at Palitana, Anandji Kalyanji Bhandar, and dated Sain. 1138. (I) सिद्धान्तचन्द्रिका by Jñānatilaka. Bhand. VI. No. 558 ; JG. p. 308 ; JHB. 37 (2 c.). This is probably a commentary on Śārasvatīprakriyā (s. v. com. No. 14).

(II) सिद्धान्तचन्द्रिका of Rāmacandrāśrama. This is a non-Jain commentary on the Śārasvatī Sūtras. See CC. I. p. 700 ; and also under Śārasvata Vyākaraṇa.

(1) Subodhinī Vṛtti composed by Sadānandagaṇi, pupil of Bhaktivijaya of the Kharatara Gaccha. BO. pp. 43 ; 44 ; CC. I. p. 718 ; III. p. 145 ; DB. 36 (5) ; JG. p. 308 ; KB. 3 (29 ; 65) ; 5 (12) ; Mitra. IX. p. 20 ; Surat. 1, 5.

(2) Tīppana by Candrakīrti. This seems to be different from the author's commentary on Śārasvatīprakriyā. DA. 62 (4 to 7).

(3) Tīkā. Anonymous. KB. 8 (4, two copies).

(I) सिद्धान्तरत्न (Grām. 800) of Jinacandra. JG. p. 308. Probably this and the next work are identical with Siddhāntaratnikā Vyākaraṇa.

(II) सिद्धान्तरत्न of Vinayacandra. Bhand. V. No. 1394 ; Pet. III. No. 649.

सिद्धान्तरत्नावली in 32 Sanskrit stanzas composed by a pupil of Hemasūri, pupil of Jinodaya, pupil of Jinacandra of the Kharatara Gaccha. JG. p. 193 ; Kath. No. 1316 ; Pet. IV. A. p. 124 ; Surat. 1 (foll. 83, does this contain a commentary ?).

सिद्धान्तरत्निकाव्याकरण composed by Jinacandra-sūri, pupil of Sāgaracandrasūri of the Nāgapuriya Tapā Gaccha. The author lived in the 20th century of the Vikrama Era and helped Ksamākalyāṇa of the Kharatara Gaccha in composing Guṇasāgaracaritra and Pṛthvīcandracaritra. The work is based on the Śārasvatī Sūtras. It is published by Jainajñāna-bhāṇḍāra samāja, Visanagar (Gujarat), Sam. 1966 and also in the YJG. Series, Bhavnagar, A. D. 1930. See Siddhāntaratna (I). सिद्धिभूषण

(1) Tikā by Virasena. This is alluded to in Guṇabhadra's Uttarapurāṇa according to Bhandarkar, Report, IV. pp. 119-120, and 427. But this is probably a mistake. The Tikā that is meant is the Jayadhavalātikā and Siddhibhūped-dhati is 'the way to the world of salvation'. It is not a proper name.

सिद्धिविनिश्चय by Akalaṅka. It is quoted in the Nisāthacūṛṇi.

(I) Tikā by Anantakīrti (Ananta-vīrya), pupil of Ravibhadra. A ms. of this is possessed by the Jain Svetāmbara Conference, Bombay ; cf. Anekānta I. p. 201 ; ABORI., Vol. XIII. p. 162. Siddhiviniścaṇa forms the Bhattrayi of Akalaṅka along with Nyavaviniścaṇa and Pramāṇasaṅgraha.

सिद्धिधेयः समुद्रयस्तोत्र of Siddhasena ; see Sakrastava.

(I) सिन्दूरप्रकर also called Somaśataka and Sūktimuktāvali, is a collection of 100 Sanskrit stanzas on different subjects connected with Jainism. It was composed by Somaprabhacārya, pupil of Vijayasimhasūri of the Bhadr Gaccha. Sometimes on the strength of a spurious concluding stanza, the work is ascribed to a Digambara Somadeva, pupil of Gaurasena. But Jalhanadeva in his Sūktimuktāvali (about 1250 A.D.) mentions Somaprabhacārya as the author of this collection of 100 verses from which he quotes a stanza beginning with 'lakṣmīḥ paśyati'. See Bhand. Report, VI. p. LIV. Besides, the Prasasti at the end of the Śatārthavṛtti ascribes this work to Somaprabha ; cf. Introduction to Kumārāpalapratibodha (Gack. O. S.), p. 15. The text is published at Kavyamālā VII. p. 35 ff. The text with Harsakīrti's commentary is published at Abinēdabad, 1924. Also compare Winternitz, History, II. p. 573. Agra. Nos. 1318 to सूत्रकृताङ्गसूत्र is the second Aṅga (Grām. 2100) of the Jain Āgama. It is published with the Nirukti and Śilāṅka's commentary in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 18, Bombay 1917, and with commentaries of Śilāṅka and Harsakula by Bhimsi Manek, Bombay Sarin. 1936 for Ray Bahadur Dhanapati Simha of Calcutta. It is translated into English by H. Jacobi in S. B. E. Vol. 45. It consists of two parts, the second being probably younger than the first, and mainly devoted to the refutation of the rival philosophical systems. Agra. सूर्यप्रज्ञासूत्र in 20 chapters is the fifth Upāṅga of the Jain Āgama (Grām. 2296). It is published with Malayagiri's commentary in the Āgamodaya Samiti Series, No. 24, Bombay, 1919. It contains the astronomical views of the Jainas. See Weber, Indische Studien, X. p. 254; G. Thibaut, JASB., Vol. 49, p. 107; p. 171; R. Sham Shastri, Journal of the Mythic Society, Vol. 15, p. 138; Vol. 16, p. 201 and Vol. 18, p. 32; Indian Historical Quarterly, Vol. VIII. p. 30; for the connection of this Sūtra with the Candraprajñapti, cf. W. Shubring, Lehre der Jainas, p. 71. Dr. Sham Shastri gives a brief translation of the Sūtra at places mentioned above. It is recently edited in Roman characters by J. F. Kohl, Stuttgart, 1937. In the Sthānāngasūtra IV. 1, the four Prajñaptis i. e. Candra, Sūrya, Jambūdvīpa and Dvīpasāgara, are described as Āṅgabāhyās, cf. Winternitz, History, II. p. 457 f. n. AM. 25; Baroda. स्वरवर्णानुक्रमधातुपाठ by Panyasundara. See Dhātu-pāthasvaravarṇānukrama. KB. 3 (65).

स्वरूपसंक्षेपविशति by Akalanikadeva. It is ascribed to Akalanika by Vimaladāsa in his Saptabhaṅgitarāṅgiṇī. But in some mss. it is ascribed to Mahāsena, pupil of Nayasena. Thus also a Kanarese commentary on the work itself and Padmaprabha Mahadhārideva in his commentary on the Niyamasara ascribe it to Mahāsena ; cf. Upadhye, ABORI., Vol. XIII. pp. 88, 90. - p. 127 (I) छन्दोनुशासन of Jayakīrti. It is in eight chapters. It deals with Sanskrit metres in the first six chapters (Sainjñā, Sama Vṛtta, Ardhasama Vṛtta, Viśama Vṛtta, Jāti, and Mīśra). In the 7th chapter, the Jātis employed in the Kārṇāṭaka language are defined, while the 8th defines and describes the Prastāras. Among the Kannada works, Jayakīrti mentions Śṛīgārapīṇḍa Kāvya, Kārṇāṭeśvarakathā, Kārṇāṭa-Mālatimādhava and Kārṇāṭa-Kumārasaṁbhava. He also mentions Prabhusena, a Kārṇāṭaka metrician (au of Gītikālamkāra?). I have obtained a copy of the DC. ms. through the favour of Muni Shri Jinavijayaaji.

p. 127 (IV) छन्दोनुशासन Jineśvarasūri. This is a short treatise on the Gāthā metre. It consists of 23 Gāthās only, and in spite of the name, discusses, rather briefly and without illustrations, the formation of only the Gāthā and a few other metres derived from it. I have obtained a copy of the text and its commentary through Muni Shri Jinavijayaji from the Baḍā Bhandar at Jesalmir, where the only palm-leaf ms. of the work exists. I shall soon publish this.

(1) Vṛtti by Muniandrasūri (Grām. 243). This was composed at the instance of one Ajita Śrāvaka. Unfortunately, neither the text nor the commentary contains any references to earlier writers.

p. 128 छन्दःशेखर of Rājasekhara. Jesal No. 238. This contains only the 5th i. e. the last chapter of the work which is in Sanskrit. This chapter defines the Apabhraṁśa metres beginning with the Utsaha and ending with the Dvipadis. Rājasekhara describes himself as the son of Thakkara Duddaka and Nāgadevi, grandson of Lāhata, and great-grand-son of Yaśa, and as an Ārṇata. The work is described as 'dear to Sri Bhojadeva'. The Ms. is dated Sam. 1179. Who is this Sri Bhojadeva?
